

Paintbox

In numerous applications, we have already been able to prove that Wetzel Technologies' solution for the deposition of paint mist, the Paintbox, has achieved significant improvements in terms of service life, filter performance and storage capacity compared to similar products from other manufacturers.

In our test stand, which we built especially for the further development of this product, we simulate real situations with original paints from various manufacturers before we test the Paintbox in the paint shop. We optimize our paint mist separator with regard to the specific customer situations in order to be able to offer the optimal solution for the individual case of need.
